ASKS OBSERVANCE OF CLEAN UP WEEK

Tuesday Club Shows Interest in Proposed Campaign and Sends Recommendation to Mayor Ross.

ONE WEEK IN MAY SUGGESTED

Residents in Former Campaigns Have Co-operated With City in Making Them Successful.

The Seymour Tuesday Club has launched the movement for a "Clean-Up Week" this spring. The secretary of this women's organization at the request of the club members has addressed a communication to Mayor Ross and the city council asking that the city officials set aside one week to be observed generally throughout the city and that the city officials give their support to the movement.

The communication to the council and Mayor addressed to Mayor Ross follows:

"At the regular meeting of the Seymour Tuesday Club on March 21, a motion was made and unanimously carried that the Tuesday Club favor 'Clean-up Week' campaign for Seymour, and very earnestly recommends to you that one week, the dates to be fixed by you," be set apart and observed this spring as "Clean Up Week."

"In accordance with this motion, I am notifying you of the action of the Tuesday Club and I can assure you of the undivided support of this organization of Seymour ladies in this important movement."

Mayor Ross said he was favorable to the observance of Clean Up Week and thought that the movement in the past had been a direct benefit to the city. For two years Clean Up Week has been observed in Seymour and hundreds of loads of trash and debris have been removed from the streets, alleys and lawns. Last year the number of flies in the city was noticeably small when compared to former years and many residents think that the activity during the spring clean up campaign was largely responsible. Aside from the sanitary viewpoint such a campaign is a benefit to Seymour as it is an accepted time for repairing broken down fences, repainting old sheds and buildings and generally improving the appearance of property surroundings.

In the former campaigns of this kind the city council has entered heartily into the spirit of the movement and has given the assistance of the street department in removing the piles of ashes and debris which are collected together in all parts of the city as the result of the concerted movement on the part of the residents. Previously the city has been divided into sections and the trash removed from each district at a specified time. The dates when the teamsters will be employed in the various districts are published in advance so that property owners will have ample time to take advantage of the service extended by the city. At such times no charge is made for removing trash.

The first clean up campaign three years ago was doubtless the most valuable ever conducted here. Alleys, side streets and back yards which had been neglected for years were given attention. During the second campaign the spirit extended throughout the city with the result that an effort was made to beautify vacant lots with flowers and greenery.

It is probable that the clean up campaign will be conducted in May. In that month most of the house cleaning work has been completed, the weather is then more settled and work in the lawns can be completed for the summer. In 1913 a week in April was first designated as the time for the co-operative campaign, but was later postponed until May, which was accepted as a more favorable time.

The request of the Tuesday Club will likely be brought to the attention of the city council at the next meeting night, March 30. Arrangements may then be made for conducting the campaign. Committees of citizens may be appointed to look after the work in the various districts.

Woman Attacked.

While waiting for a train for her home, Mrs. Daisy Overshimer, of Valonia, was attacked by an unknown man about 10 o'clock Wednesday night. Her husband had left her a few minutes before to get a lunch for them. The stranger was apparently intoxicated. Just after he grabbed the woman, her husband returned and the attacking party fled. The police were notified but were unable to locate the man. He was described as rather tall, wearing a light colored hat and a long black overcoat.

EACH COLLECTOR HAS CREDENTIALS

Treasurer Belding Hears Report That Impostors are Working in County as Tax Collectors.

INVESTIGATION INSTITUTED

Practically all Complaints Circulated About System Are Unjustifiable, Says Official.

That one or more impostors who represent themselves to be tax collectors are working in this city and county, is the report that has come to County Treasurer John E. Belding. Upon receiving the information he came to Seymour Wednesday night and began an investigation in an effort to learn the identity of the parties who are said to be posing as collectors now working with the treasurer's office. It is said that the unauthorized collectors have made several collections.

Treasurer Belding said there is no need of anyone being deceived by such impostors as the official collectors carry credentials which they will show on demand. The collectors at work in the treasurer's office are sworn by the county clerk. They are provided with certificates bearing the signatures and seal of the county clerk and treasurer. Treasurer Belding was unable to get trace of the alleged impostors.

The collection of delinquent taxes is progressing satisfactorily to the treasurer's office, Mr. Belding said. Already a large amount of money has been turned into the county treasury and the work had only been begun. Some of the accounts settled during the past few days had been transferred to the insolvent record and date back six or seven years.

"There is much misunderstanding about the system of collecting taxes," said the county treasurer. "Demands

B. & O. CONDUCTOR INJURED WHILE REACHING FOR ORDERS

M. C. Whitcomb, Formerly of This City, Pulled from Coach in an Unusual Manner.

M. C. Whitcomb, formerly of this city, one of the popular passenger conductors on the Baltimore & Northwestern, was painfully and probably seriously injured by an unusual accident Wednesday. He was in charge of eastbound train No. 12 and his injuries were sustained at the North Vernon depot.

When passenger trains approach the North Vernon depot the train orders are given to the fireman by the operator by means of a hoop. The conductor stations himself several cars back and because of the diminished speed of the train as it approaches the station is able to grab the orders from the operator's hand.

Joe Huffington, formerly of this city, is dispatcher at North Vernon and gave the orders to the fireman. Mr. Whitcomb was leaning from the platform of one of the rear cars and grabbed the orders from Huffington but in some manner the ring on the conductor's hand caught the ring on the dispatcher's hand and the former was pulled from the platform. He fell to the platform on his head and shoulders. His injuries are painful. He was taken to his home in Cincinnati.

CAMPAIGN OPENED FOR BETTER ROADS

Jackson County Through Motor Club Can Secure Valuable Advice From Highway Department.

ENGINEERS TOUR THE STATE

Government Men Lecture in Twenty-six Counties—Second Tour in This Section Planned.

Jackson county through its Automobile Association can secure the service of a government engineer to give an illustrated lecture in the interest of good roads and a more efficient system of maintaining public highways if the request is filed soon. The first tour of the state, during which twenty-six lectures were given, has been completed and the second is being planned later in the spring. Columbus North Vernon, Bloomington, Nashville, Indianapolis, Madison and Greensburg are already on the itinerary. The lectures in the southern part of the state on the second tour will be given by L. E. Boykin.

The lectures were arranged by the public highway office of the Department of Agriculture as a part of a tremendous campaign for better roads. The lectures in this state given under the auspices of the Hoosier Motor Association.

The government has made a careful study of Indiana road conditions, and knows county for county how many miles each has of hard surfaced roads, gravel roads and dirt roads. They also know the kind and location of road building material distributed throughout the state.

The object of these lectures was to give reliable and unbiased information on the subject. One of the biggest criticisms made by the government men is that the system of building roads is not connected. There are a few miles of good road, then a few miles of mud, then another

PRESBYTERIAN CONGREGATION HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Reports From Various Church Organizations Show Them to be in Good Condition.

Excellent reports from the various organizations of the church were read at the annual congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church last evening. The Sunday School, Missionary Society, Ladies' Aid Society, Christian Endeavor Society, Brotherhood and other organizations were all shown to be in a healthy condition, both numerically and financially. The following officers were re-elected, their terms of office having expired: Elders, C. D. Billings and W. P. Masters; Deacon, Charles E. Appel; Treasurer, Charles W. Graessle, and Trustee, O. H. Montgomery.

Following the business session, Prof. T. A. Mott delivered an address setting forth the aims and plans of the Brotherhood, and giving a brief history of what it has done since its organization last July. He has had charge of the Sunday morning Bible study class of the Brotherhood since its organization, and under his leadership the class has had a steady growth, with prospects for an even greater growth in the future. Mr. Mott's talk was helpful, inspiring and entertaining.

The social part of the evening was in charge of the Brotherhood, and proved most enjoyable. Music was furnished by Will G. Masters and Don A. Bollinger. A two course luncheon was served, the men acting as waiters.

Rev. James H. More, the pastor-elect of the church, who preached Sunday, was unable to be present at the meeting, but left a message saying that he had arranged to come on three Sundays in April. Immediately following his graduation at McCormick Seminary in May he will be ordained into the ministry, and later be installed as pastor of the church here.

Baptist's Woman's Sewing Society will hold a food sale Saturday at 11 o'clock at Carison's Hardware Store. Buy your Sunday dinner of them. m24d

SEYMOUR COMPANY AWAITS WAR NEWS

Local Guardsmen Speculate on Meaning of Funston's Statement About Patrol Duty.

WATCHING MEXICAN REPORTS

Reported That Local Commanding Officer Has Informed Militiamen to be Prepared.

Company K, Indiana National Guards, would not be surprised at any moment to receive a message from the war department in Washington that their services are needed for Mexican border patrol. This statement was made this afternoon by the company commander when informed that General Funston had stated that if conditions became much worse in Mexico he would recommend to the war department in Washington that the state guardsmen of the United States be called out for patrol duty.

The company commander stated that such information was not unexpected. He said that the members of the Seymour company had been looking for such word since the Mexican trouble started and that they were anxious to don their uniforms and march to the front.

He said that though active preparations for mobilization had not been started and would not be started until positive authentic word was received from the war department arrangements looking towards mobilization were made. The company has about sixty men. If the call is sent out, he declared, the local company would be recruited to about 150.

Company K has been training for several weeks because of the threatened trouble with Mexico and the keen desire to be ready when the call came. In the recent inspections by the government inspectors the local company received a high rating in nearly all departments.

Some members of the local company do not live in Seymour and it is said that letters have been written to them to be prepared to respond to a call from their country at any moment. The company was recruited in this city and the vicinity immediately surrounding and it is not expected that much difficulty would be encountered in getting the members here on short notice. It is further stated that there are any number of men who would quickly enlist when they are assured that they will be sent to the front.

COMMISSION WILL TAKE UP LIGHT QUESTION SHORTLY

Encouragement Given Local Committee When Urgent Appeal is Made in Behalf of the City.

Encouragement that the Indiana Public Service Commission will at once give attention to the electric light controversy here, was given the local committee yesterday. Nathan Kaufman and E. P. Elsner made an urgent request to the Commission that immediate action be taken.

The local men told the Commission that the case had been pending for a long time, that arrangements had been made to organize a new company here and that it was desired to get some action at once so the further organization of the second company could be pushed. The commission told the local committee that immediate attention would be given the city's petition and that a reply would be forwarded in the near future.

DENIAL MADE OF HERRERA'S REVOLT

Carranza Consul Garcia Says He Has Information that Herrera and Villa Are Enemies.

ALLEGED PLOT IN EL PASO

Captain Hall Declares He Heard of Plan to Loot and Burn the City—Eleven Arrests.

By United Press.

El Paso, March 23.—Police Captain Hall today claimed to be in possession of facts showing a plot of 200 Mexicans in El Paso to loot and burn the city. Eleven men were arrested including Melchor Herrera, brother of General Louis Herrera.

Carranza Consul Garcia here today issued a formal denial of the report that General Louis Herrera had revolted and would join Villa with his 2,000 well armed Carranza troops. This and the report that General Pershing has taken over a portion of the Mexican railway south of Casas Grandes were the outstanding factors of the Mexican situation today. Garcia stated Herrera and Villa were deadly enemies. He added that he had no advices from "the reported battle of Namiquipa," casting further doubt on the alleged clash between Carranza Colonel Cano's men and Villa at that point.

Despite Garcia's statement it was feared today that the predicted uprising against American troops on Mexican soil is under way.

With no word of Villa's whereabouts since Monday he is believed to have escaped. The 900 troops under Colonel Cano who were supposed to have defeated the bandits are reported to have gone over to him. This would explain the silence of Juarez officials regarding the outcome of the reported battle. Juarez commandant Gavira stated Cano withdrew after his rumored victory, an unusual proceeding which practically confirms Villa's escape and suggests collusion. General Pershing has taken over control of the Mexican Northwestern Railroad south of Casas Grandes, his base in Mexico, it was unofficially stated here today. It was unknown here whether Pershing forcibly took possession of the line or received the permission of the de-facto government. He was said already to have begun transportation of infantry forces over the line to Madera, Chihuahua, in an attempt to get the bandit Villa while Colonel Dodd's cavalry squadron pushes the bandit's followers southward.

PERSHING MAY BE IN CHARGE OF ROAD

Report Virtually Confirmed That Mexican Railroad Line May be Operated by Army Officers.

QUICK ACTION IS NECESSARY

General Funston Denies More Troops Have Been Requested—Militiamen for Border Duty.

By United Press.

El Paso, Texas, March 23.—General Luis Herrera is loyal to Carranza United States Collector of Customs Cobb today made public a telegram dated today from Governor Enriquez of Chihuahua City stating that he shook hands with Herrera today and that the general reported to have joined Villa was loyal to the de facto government.

By United Press.

San Antonio, Texas, March 23.—Emphasizing the need of speed in the Villa hunt by American forces General Funston today virtually confirmed El Paso reports that General Pershing had taken over the Mexican railroad line. That Pershing had taken over the Mexican Northwestern Railroad and was operating it south of Casas Grandes to the Cambré Tunnel was considered entirely possible by Funston.

"General Pershing has not reported to me what he has done, but I believe that he may have done so," said Funston. "Of course, he would first secure the consent of the local Mexican commander as the road is now under the control of the Mexican war department."

Emphasis was laid upon the matter of speed in the army operations south of Casas Grandes by officers at the post, and it was pointed out that the road ran directly into the territory in which Pershing would be most likely to want the troops in a hurry.

Without direct word from Casas Grandes for over thirty-six hours, Funston today wireless General Pershing to get into immediate touch with him and report fully.

General Funston received a long code message from General Bell at El Paso today supposedly containing information on the Herrera defection but nothing was given out. Headquarters had no information as to the reported bolt to Villa by the Carranza garrison at Juarez.

Denying that more troops had been asked, Funston intimated that the troops requested Tuesday would be sufficient so long as the situation remains as at present.

As to the call of troops the general passed that question up to the war department. He was of the opinion that if the situation becomes worse it might be necessary to use national guardsmen for the border patrol.

GERMANS GAIN HAUCOURT HILL

Final Assault on Verdun to Begin, Says Dutch Report.

RUSSIANS TAKE CZERNOWICZ

Offensive on the Eastern Line Is Being Pushed by Czar's Troops, Who Make Some Gains—Relieves Pressure on Verdun.

Paris, March 23.—After a particularly heavy bombardment on the small Haucourt hill, a little over a half mile southwest of the village of Malincourt, on the west bank of the Meuse, the Germans succeeded in gaining a foothold on the height.

This was one of a series of attempts made by the Germans to advance in this region and the only one of the series to gain success. The bombardment which was begun as a preliminary to the attack covered the region of Malincourt, Esnes, Haucourt hill and Hill 304. The French guns replied energetically, directing especial attention to the Bois De Malincourt and the Bois D'Avocourt, the southeastern part of the Malancourt woods. So severe was the French fire on the Bois D'Avocourt that the Germans were unable to leave their trenches in spite of various attempts.

Communique reports an intense artillery bombardment on the right bank of the Meuse, on the Douaumont-Vaux-Damloup front, seemingly indicating preparations by the Germans for a resumption of the infantry attacks in this sector.

Reports were received here through Dutch channels that the kaiser has returned to the western front and that what the reports term the "final assault" on the fortress is about to begin.

The Russian offensive at the three vital points of the eastern battle line—between Riga and Dwinsk, east of Wilna, and on the Bukowina border—is being pushed with might and main. The German war office insists that the new attacks against Field Marshal von Hindenburg's lines in the north, which, together with the offensive against the Austrians in the southwest, are aimed at indirectly relieving the crown prince's pressure against Verdun by forcing the withdrawal of troops from the west, have thus far been unsuccessful and have cost the attackers enormous losses.

Berlin insists that the only gain made by the Russians in the new offensive was that in the Lake Narooz region, where the Germans gave up a "far protruding salient," withdrawing their front several meters. The German war office emphasizes, however, that the Russian attacks are continuing.

More favorable than in the north seems to be the development of the new offensive in the southwest, from the Russian point of view. Here the Russian energy is again concentrated upon the strongly fortified approaches to Czernowicz, the Bukowina capital. The czar's troops captured the Usieczko bridgehead, a position which the Austrians had stubbornly held for the last six months and which the Russians failed to take in the recent great offensive in the southwest.

The town of Usieczko already is in Russian hands. Thus the Russians are now again seriously menacing Zalcieski, an important railroad intersection due south. This is practically the key to Czernowicz. Dispatches received here by way of Rome already report the evacuation of the capital of Bukowina.

POISON MYSTERY AT GRAND RAPIDS

Officials Probe Deaths of J. E. Peck and Wife.

AUTOPSY REVEALS ARSENIC

Mysterious Telegram Leads to An Investigation by New York District Attorney at Grand Rapids Into Deaths of Druggist and Wife.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 23.—Tony Manouse, assistant district attorney in charge of homicides at New York, and Dr. Otto Schultz, pathologist, performed a second autopsy here on the body of John E. Peck, millionaire druggist, whose death in New York, April 12, and also the death of his wife, Hannah Peck, has caused an investigation. Both Schultz and Manouse refused to make known their findings, declaring that they would report direct to District Attorney Swann in New York.

The investigation was started more than a week ago when Percy S. Peck, son of John E. Peck, received a mysterious telegram from New York, demanding that an autopsy be performed on the body of his father without fail. The name signed to the wire has since proved fictitious.

The body of the elder Peck was brought here and while Percy S. Peck, the son, was making arrangements for the funeral the wire was received. He at once summoned his pastor, Dr. A. W. Wishart, and also Dr. Perry Shurz. A postmortem examination was made and the heart and lungs were found to be in good condition. The stomach and intestines were sent to Victor C. Vaughn, dean of the medical department at the University of Michigan, who found traces of arsenic. This information was conveyed to District Attorney Swann.

Last Friday the will of Peck was filed for probate. The bulk of his estate valued at upwards of $1,000,000, was left to the daughter and son. A codicil, written in New York on March 9, provided for a $2,000 bequest to Warren W. Waite, the father of Dr. Waite.

A friend of Mrs. Waite, who stayed at the Peck home one night, has reported that the latter was sick all night and that she was up several times, being ill from nausea.

On this particular night Mrs. Waite is said to have told her friends that Dr. Waite urged her to make her will immediately following her father's death.

She is also reported to have said, despondently, to her friend, "I know I shall be dead within a year."

RECEIVER TELLS OF LOSSES

U. C. Niblack Reviews Conditions He Faced In Lorimer Bank.

Chicago, March 23.—W. C. Niblack, receiver of the La Salle Trust and Savings bank, gave a review of the situation he faced when he took charge in the reopening of the trial of ex-Senator Lorimer for conspiracy to defraud in Judge Dever's court.

The loss on the paper of Vice President Munday in the bank was shown by Mr. Niblack's statement to be approximately $1,250,000.

The loss on Lorimer and Gallagher notes and those of affiliated Lorimer companies approximates $1,000,000.

The receiver stated that notes and other obligations of H. W. Hutting, one of the bank directors and head of the Hutting Manufacturing company represented $118,000 and that he would take $20,000 cash for the whole mass of collateral in his hands and report it a fortunate transaction.

2,000 CARRANZA TROOPS JOIN VILLA

Chihuahua Governor Takes Field Against U. S.

CAUSE OF APPREHENSION

Pershing's Troops In Perilous Situation—Secretary Baker Says No New Troop Movements Are Contemplated at Present.

El Paso, Tex., March 23.—Two American army scouts are reported to have been killed in a brush with Villista forces in the El Valle-Namiquipa district of Chihuahua, in which the pursuit of Villa is progressing.

Washington, March 23.—Official confirmation was received at the war department of the defection of Governor Herrera of Chihuahua, with 2,000 troops, to the cause of General Villa. It came in dispatches from General Funston and General Bell.

The news caused grave apprehension in official circles. Fear is expressed that the action of Herrera who was formerly on Villa's staff of generals, may be followed by defection on the part of other Villa sympathizers.

Secretary Baker stated that in a dispatch received at the department, General Funston denied a border report that twenty-seven army trucks, with their drivers, missing, had been found miles off the line of march in Mexico.

The secretary stated that no further troop movements are in contemplation at present. Prior to Secretary Baker's statement, army officers had expressed concern over the situation likely to develop as a result of Herrera's espousal of Villa's cause, and there were intimations that prompt steps would now have to be taken to protect General Pershing's line of communication. It is regarded as probable that orders may soon be issued directing troops stationed at different points throughout the country to hold themselves in readiness for a movement toward the border.

At the present time there are available, exclusive of field artillery and engineers, just 5,105 troops of the mobile force of the United States army in this country that are not now on the border.

Officials of the war department added that, if necessary, the 14,000 coast artillery troops in the United States could be drawn on, making a total additional regular army force of 22,212. It is also suggested as probable that the war department would avail itself without delay of the offers to volunteer from the crack national guard cavalry regiments of New York, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Arizona and New Mexico, a total of approximately 5,000 men.

Sherman Warns Senate.

Warning his hearers with solemn emphasis that the American expedition now in Mexico may meet the fate of Gordon at Khartoum, Senator Sherman of Illinois, Republican, introduced in the senate a resolution authorizing the president to issue a call for 50,000 volunteers for service in Mexico. The resolution provides that the volunteers shall be mustered out of service as soon as Villa, the Mexican bandit, has been captured or killed. At Mr. Sherman's request the resolution was placed on the table ready to be voted on at any time it is called upon.

In his statement Senator Sherman severely criticized the lack of military strength behind the expedition. In marked contrast to the warning voice of Senator Sherman, the state department continued to give out most encouraging reports concerning the absence of disturbances in Mexico, and the friendly character of the Mexicans. Amid these reports, however, were two exceptions. Conditions in the Tampico oil district, on the east coast, were admitted to be bad, and though no confirmation was found in official dispatches, officials of the department were inclined to credit the press reports from Torreon that the British consul there has decided to send all foreign women and children from that city to the American border in box cars.

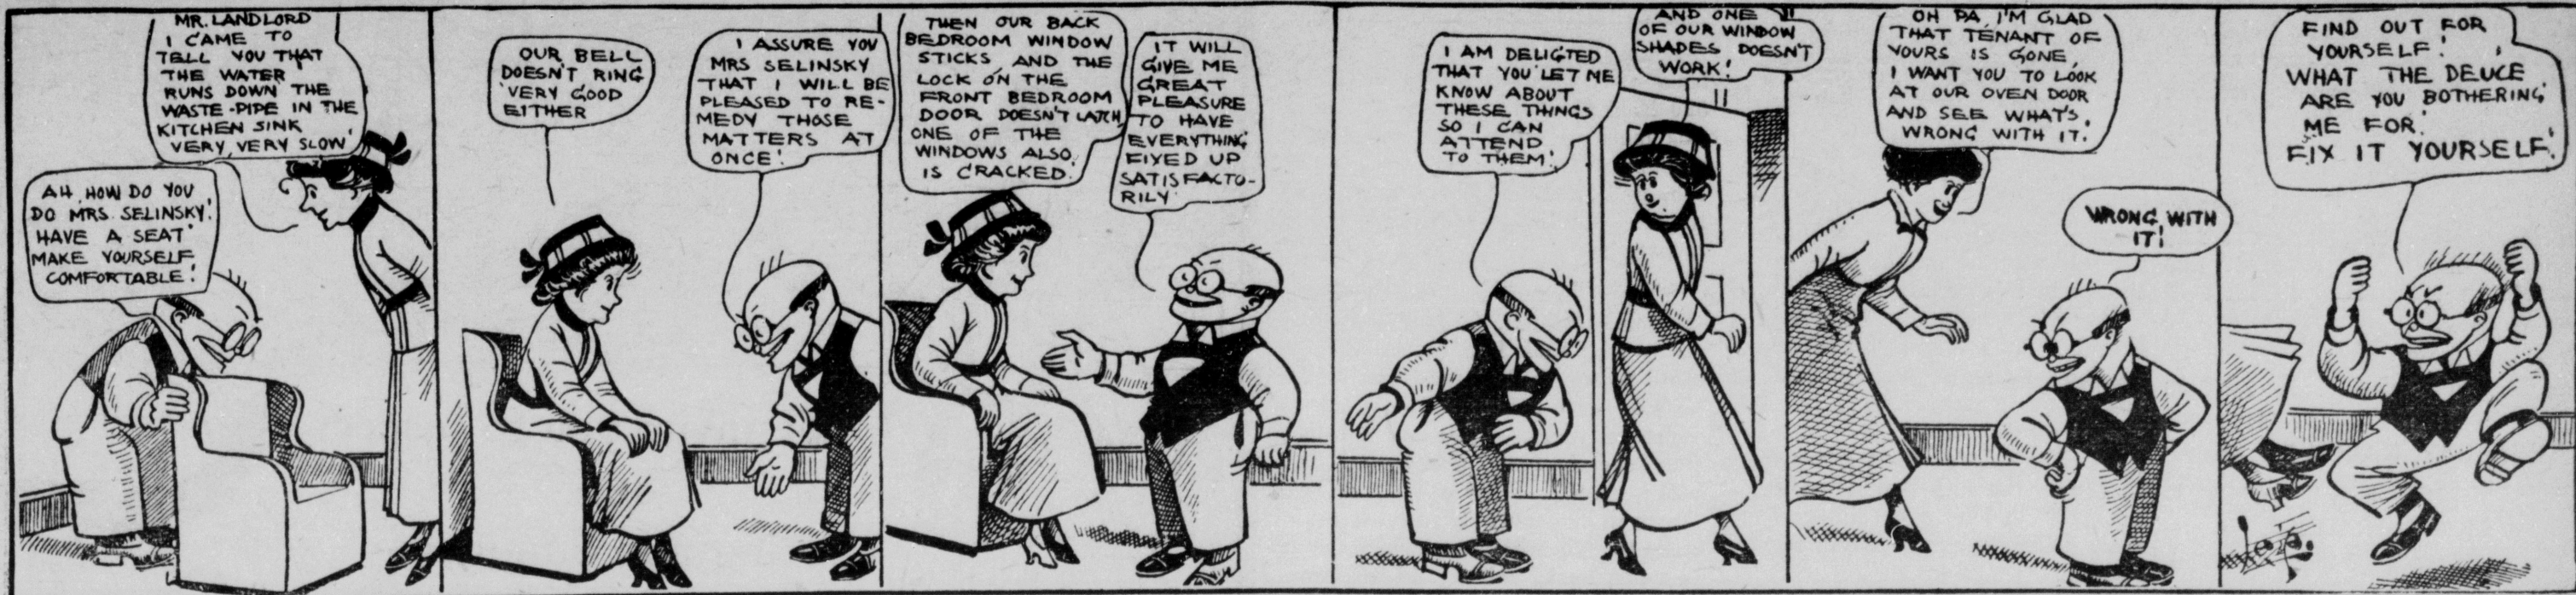

The situation in the Tampico district caused Secretary of the Navy Daniels to announce that he had ordered the battleship Kentucky to go there and anchor off Tampico. The gunboat Machias is now there. The gunboat Wheeling has been ordered at once from New Orleans to Progreso, a point on the Yucatan peninsula, where revolutionary forces are said to be active.

The navy department had no confirmation of the report that the Machias had taken on board American women and children refugees from Tuxpam.

Anxiety at the war department concerning the fate of three of the army aviators, who flew from Columbus to join the Pershing forces, at Casas Grandes, was partly relieved by Secretary of War Baker, who announced that General John J. Pershing had reported the arrival of Lieutenants Willis and Kilner, who piloted two of the air craft. The department is without any information concerning the fate of Lieutenant Correll, who drove the third aeroplane.

WORK ON BRIDGES HELD UP BY MATERIAL SHORTAGE

County Commissioners and Surveyor to Make Second Inspection Tour of County Contracts.

Difficulty in getting steel for bridge construction work is being experienced by the commissioners in Jackson county. Last fall contracts for several small bridges were awarded and immediately afterwards the orders for the steel were placed. Because of the unusual conditions at the mills the orders could not be filled and the material is just now arriving in this county. Several new bridges to be constructed of steel are contemplated this spring but it may be impossible to erect them on account of the shortage of material.

The members of the board of commissioners and Ross Baldwin, county surveyor, will Friday make the second tour of the county inspecting old bridges as well as the contract work under way. The first tour was made Tuesday and included townships in the west part of the county. The second trip will be made through Brownstown, Hamilton, Vernon and Grassy Fork townships.

stretch of improved road and so on; instead of a connected system of roads, carefully laid out, properly built and efficiently maintained. This is because each township in the state is a separate unit in itself and builds and maintains its roads accordingly. Could you imagine a railroad being run with as many presidents as there are townships in Indiana?

A second criticism is that Indiana has built too many roads in some counties, and a third criticism is that the type of road, especially in the case of main traveled highways is unsuited to the excessive automobile traffic. In other places the road building material allowed to go into the roads is considered less than 50 per cent. efficient and many roads after being built are allowed to deteriorate and in a most unnecessarily rapid manner for lack of adequate drainage and maintenance. But what can Indiana expect so long as she allows 4,500 men to spend her money and in most cases all she asks of the majority of these men is that they be legal voters. These men are divided into as many groups as there are townships and they are responsible to no head. Indiana is spending nearly $18,000,000 annually on roads which is more than most states and ranks third in percentage of improved roads.

They want Indiana to take her proper place among the other states, and the first step in this direction is for the state to get a state department of roads. This does not mean doing away with local control of roads. It means that the supervision of building and maintaining main traveled highways will be turned over to the state department and the counties and townships will be expected to look after the less used roads. It does not mean a state department of roads controlled by politics and supplied with money for "pork barrel" purposes. It means a department composed of men sufficiently well educated and trained to look after their business in an efficient manner. With such a department, township and county road officials would have a place to go to for help and thereby have a chance to do themselves justice. Only five states in the Union are without a state department of roads. These states are South Carolina, Mississippi, Tennessee, South Dakota and Indiana. Some time ago $25,000,000 was appropriated by the U. S. government to be distributed among the states, but until Indiana has a state department of roads she cannot get a share of this money. The government will not open a set of books with each county and township. Federal aid is likely to become a law, and Indiana should be in a position to accept her share of the money.

The government compliments the state upon having some excellent roads and a large mileage of improved road having excellent road material. They have pointed out the state's faults and are ready to help correct them. 1. They will place possibly fifteen engineers in as many counties this summer to supervise the construction of a mile of road as an object lesson. 2. They will install the system of maintenance recommended by the government if so requested by the county. 3. If a group of counties along some main traveled highway would band together the government will take over the responsibility of looking after that highway. At the present time the Capitol Highway from Quebec to Miami is so maintained.

All requests for such assistance must be made through the county road commissioners. There is no cost to the county for the services of the government men, and in the selection of counties making requests for such assistance, the government will be guided largely by selecting only such counties as have the money with which to do the desired construction work and have or will get such machinery as is necessary in order to do the work properly.

ORDER TO LIMIT SERVICE AT GENERAL DELIVERY WINDOWS

Instructions to Postmaster to Have Residents Give Addresses to Be Filed.

Postmaster Swope, along with other postmasters throughout the country, are being advised by the postmaster general that service at "general delivery windows" should be restricted wherever possible to transients and to those residents who are not afforded means of receiving their mail by carrier. It is expected that persons residing within the city delivery limits of all cities will accept service by carrier, or that they will provide themselves with a rented box if they prefer to receive their mail at the postoffice.

With the establishment of city delivery service the allowance for clerk hire has been reduced so as to provide only for the time necessary for the distribution and dispatch of mails, and the delivery service is expected to be handled almost wholly by the carriers. It is further supposed that the "general delivery" service is being utilized by parties at many offices and too often by minor children, who wish to avoid having the sender of the mail known by other members of the family.

The instructions received state that persons supposed to be residents who call at the general delivery for mail may be requested to furnish in writing their names and street addresses and statements of their reason for desiring to use the general delivery instead of the carrier service. Cards are provided for the purpose and the instructions of the department will be carefully followed at the local office.

John F. Kilgas, who now lives at Morgan, Minn., renews his subscription to the Daily Republican. He is well pleased about his new location and writes as follows:

"We have moved in our new home here. It is getting springlike and the snow is nearly all gone. This is a nice country out here. We are in the southwestern part of Minnesota. It gets pretty cold out here in the winter. It was thirty-five below zero in January. My father has moved down here from Reynolds, Ind. I have two brothers in the northwestern part of Minnesota. Anybody wishing to come out here, come and pay me a visit. I married Miss Clara Smith, formerly of Seymour. We are always glad to receive the dear old Republican. It is like a letter from home. EACH COLLECTOR HAS CREDENTIALS were made upon me, especially by taxpayers in the city of Seymour, that some effort be made to collect the delinquent taxes and this is the best method available. It is estimated that there are between $30,000 and $40,000 in delinquent taxes in this county. Of this amount about forty per cent. is in the city of Seymour," he said.

The county loses nothing by this system, Mr. Belding explained. The law provides that delinquents from one taxpaying time to another shall carry a penalty of ten per cent. If the settlement is not then made another six per cent. is added. Under this system of collection, the county gets all the penalties the same as if the collectors had not been engaged. The law further provides that when special collectors are sent out they shall be paid twenty cents a mile, shall receive a fee for fling and another for making the return. It is on this that the collectors make their money.

Treasurer Belding said that the city will profit largely by the system of collecting taxes. There are many delinquent accounts here, he said, and when these are paid the city gets its share of the money the same as if they were paid in the regular manner. Many inquiries and complaints have come to the treasurer's office from persons who have been visited by the collectors. In almost every case, Belding said, the complaints were unjustified and the records showed conclusively that the amounts asked by the collectors were due the county.

In this city and in fact throughout the county reports have been made of the manner adopted by the collectors in getting the money. It is rumored that threats have been made and that settlements have been made with the collectors even when the property owners held the receipts of their taxes. When asked about these reports Treasurer Belding said he did not know the system adopted by the field men to collect the taxes, but he was confident that they were not abusive.

"We have had the reports that taxpayers holding receipts had been asked to pay again including the penalty and fine, but on investigation we have found that in ninety-nine out of each one hundred cases the complaining taxpayer found that his receipts were missing and that our records were correct. There is only one way we could overlook a settlement. That is by failing to keep the stub or losing it and under our system of book-keeping this does not often occur. We have heard of one or two persons who were visited by the collectors who did not owe delinquent taxes, but in each case the mistake was due to failure to record the transfer of real estate or in some other way for which this office was not responsible."

Treasurer Belding believes that the appearance of the collectors will cause a larger number of taxpayers to make prompt settlement this spring. May 1, is the last day for paying the spring installment of taxes.

FUND WILL BE STARTED FOR STATE PARK SYSTEM

Turkey Run in Parke County is Taken up as First Unit—Great Trees and Natural Beauties There.

Newspapers throughout the state have been requested to assist in raising a fund by public subscription for the purpose of making a beginning in a state park system which is to be a permanent memorial of the first centennial of Indiana statehood.

The letters to the newspapers were sent by Governor Ralston, as president of the Indiana Historical Commission; Charles W. Fairbanks, president of the Indiana Forestry Association, and Richard Lieber, chairman of the state park committee. It said:

"We are asking the newspapers of the state to join with us in developing the outstanding feature of the Indiana Centennial year—the formation of a system of state parks.

For Eczema and other Skin Troubles—We Guarantee to stop the itching and begin healing with the first application or return your money. There are lots of skin remedies but Saxo is the only one we guarantee like this. Why don't you try it? H. H. CARTER, DRUGGIST, Seymour.

This is to be the lasting memorial to which all of the celebrations this year will be directed. The state parks are to be a memorial that the people of this day can pass on to those who are to follow.

"The mighty force that we are endeavoring to bring behind this movement includes the newspapers, to show their power in Indiana civic affairs; the centennial committees, both state and county; the Indiana Federation of Clubs, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Hoosier State Motor Club, and through this amalgamated force we expect to make the state park movement a big and lasting success.

"As a foundation upon which to build the system the plan contemplates a scenic tract in northern Indiana, one in the central and a third in the south part of the state. We hope from this beginning that a large number of other parks can be added in counties where there are scenic tracts or historic buildings to be preserved. Our memorial committee will carry the project as far as it can this year and through a developed public enthusiasm ask the next Legislature to complete it.

"Turkey Run, in Parke county, is being taken up as the first unit in the state park system. This wonderland of glens, rocky gorges, waterfalls, trees, flowers and birds is a part of the Lusk estate, and it is to be sold on order of the Parke Circuit Court May 18 to close the estate. If Turkey Run passes into the hands of timber speculators the magnificent trees will be cut off and the place ruined for park purposes. To acquire and save for the people of Indiana the scenic wealth of Turkey Run will mean the beginning of a great and lasting public work."

The park committee has opened its headquarters with the Historical Commission, at Room 80, State House. A joint committee of about 100 members of the Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce is being organized to support the movement in Marion county, and commercial organizations throughout the state will be asked to name committees to work with park and centennial committees in their home counties.

CLEAN-UP WEEK.

The observance of Clean-up Week again this year by the city has been recommended by one of the women's clubs of Seymour. In a paper read before the Tuesday Club this week the subject is discussed and immediately the Club decided to address a letter to the Mayor and Council recommending that they set apart a week which shall be specially observed as Clean-up Week in Seymour. This paper is published on the Republican's woman's page today.

Two years ago the first week in May was set apart as Clean-up Week and the observance was very general over the city. Last year a week was observed with good results. Like the spring house cleaning season the observance of a special week places emphasis on the need of a general cleaning up of the premises.

During the past two years the appearance of Seymour lawns and residences have improved to a marked extent. Part of this advance toward the "City Beautiful" is due to the emphasis placed on Clean-up Week during the past two years. Each year the week has been preceded and followed by general improvement in the beauty of Seymour property.

Besides the matter of beauty the improved health conditions can be attributed in part to the general cleaning of rubbish and waste heaps. The slight expense to the city for hauling away the rubbish has been compensated many times in the improved sanitary conditions of the streets, alleys and yards.

Clean-up Week in 1916 if approved by the council should be a more important factor in our city life than any of the previous observances.

WILLIAM FETLER, THE GREAT
APOSTLE TO THE RUSSIANSWill Speak at Union Meeting of the Churches of Seymour This Evening at 7:30 O'clock.

The coming of William Fetler, of Russia, to Seymour this evening is an event that is worthy of more than passing interest. He is one of the historic men in the history of the church in this century.

He will speak at the First Baptist church at 7:30 o'clock this evening at a union meeting of the churches. He has spoken in many of the large cities of this country and his services as a speaker are in demand everywhere. This week he has been spending at Louisville and by a special arrangement he comes to Seymour for one evening.

The Western Recorder, of Louisville, speaking of his visit there this week, says:

"During the present week, Louisville has experienced the unusual pleasure of hearing the Rev. William Fetler, pastor of the First Baptist church of Petrograd, Russia. To say that he has been cordially received and deeply appreciated, would but poorly express the profound gratitude of our people for his coming.

"The history of his work constitutes one of the most fascinating chapters in the romance of missions. His great church, with its many missions and countless activities, is the mightiest force for righteousness in all the Russian Empire. He has suffered oft and long for conscience' sake, and is, at present, an exile for the faith once for all delivered to the saints. Like many other Baptist martyrs, he has suffered imprisonment, and now bears in his body the marks of the Lord Jesus. Nor has his martyrdom been in vain, but has made for the furtherance of the Gospel, in the great nation of which he is an exalted representative.

"Pastor Fetler is a man of wonderful personality and spiritual magnetism. He impresses you with the fact that he is tremendously in earnest, and moved by an imperial purpose that death and hell cannot conquer. He is, indeed, one of the greatest living examples of apostolic enthusiasm and power. In hearing him, one can easily picture Paul at Rome or Athens, declaring the Gospel of Christ to be the power of God unto salvation. He has a message, and believes it with all his soul, and his fervent faith is almost contagious."

The prisoner is a big, husky fellow and will probably be assigned to heavy work at the prison.

A street force under the supervision of City Engineer Rights has repaired a leak in a water main on Chestnut street between Second street and St. Louis avenue. The brick removed were in one of the roughest spots on the block and the repair resulted in an improvement for that side of the street.

The regular March session of the city teachers' institute will be held Saturday. Dr. Jenkins, of Indiana University, will give the sixth of his series of lectures on the drama, his subject being "Modern German Dramatists." Dr. Jenkins' lecture will be at 10 o'clock Saturday morning instead of in the afternoon, the change in the hour being made to permit Mr. Jenkins to fill another appointment. The public is cordially invited to hear Mr. Jenkins.

The Hanover College Glee Club was here today enroute to Brownstown where it will present a program tonight. The fifteen college boys were directed by Prof. L. L. Alexander, head of the Hanover Music Department. The Club appeared last night at Columbus. Several of the members of the musical aggregation had friends here who were former students at Hanover and during the wait for the westbound B. & O. Southwestern train they called on them.

The children of the public schools are busy this week rehearsing for the operetta "Jack and the Beanstalk," which is to be given Thursday evening, March 30, at the Majestic theater. Tickets are now being sold, and may be exchanged for reserved seats on Monday at Carter's. From present indications, the operetta promises to repeat the success of last year's offering, when a second performance was necessary to accommodate all those who wanted to see it.

Howls and yelps penetrate the air in the vicinity of the city building and are evidence that the police department is enforcing the ordinance which prohibits dogs from running at large on the streets. Some of the others are paying the penalty of fifty cents and claiming their dogs. After the animals are held for a reasonable length of time they will be sold to any one desiring

More "conscience money" is floating around the city today. Various persons have received the unsigned letters containing amounts varying from twenty-five cents to $6. Some of the letters state that the cash is returned because of overcharges. None of the parties receiving the letters have any idea from whom they came or in what manner the "overcharges" occurred. Since the letters first appeared there have been many guesses as to who could have sent them but nothing positive is known concerning their author. One report came to the city building today of "positive knowledge" of the sender but when the name was looked up on the tax duplicate it was found that the party mentioned owed no taxes, that he had had no business dealings with the city at any time and that his handwriting was nothing like that of the anonymous letter sent to City Treasurer Gibson.

Make Your Savings Earn Money

The Cooperative Building and Loan Association will start Series L Monday, April 3, giving citizens of Seymour another opportunity to place their savings each week where the money will earn steady and sure dividends.

Last year the Cooperative earned over 7 per cent. for its stockholders, and every member, whether a borrower or investor shared in the earnings just in proportion to the amount of stock held.

By saving 25 cents per week for a little over six years the payments made and the earnings amount to $100.00 when the stock matures. If for any reason it is impossible to continue the payments, the stock may be withdrawn at any time and the stockholder receives all the earnings up to the time of withdrawal.

There is no safer investment. There is no better plan to have your weekly savings earn money for you. There is no easier way to secure a home or accumulate a sum of money, than by the building and loan plan.

See the Secretary Thos. J. Clark and take stock in the new Series L.

Mrs. D. J. Sandau and daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Dell, who have been spending the winter in the South, returned today. They visited at Pass Christian Miss., Gulfport, La., and Pensacola, Fla.

F. W. Wesner, a local attorney, spent part of the morning looking for a tall, fairly well dressed gentleman, name unknown, who is alleged to have walked away with a quarter of a dollar without giving value received. Just before Mr. Wesner left his office in the Hancock building Wednesday morning to go to Brownstown to attend court the aforesaid stranger came in with a hard luck story and offered to paint a sign on the door of Wesner's law office for twenty-five cents. The attorney told the stranger he was leaving at once. The "artist" told him he was hungry and if he would advance the money he would have the work completed when he returned from Brownstown.

Wesner risked an advanced payment. As soon as the stranger got hold of the money he departed saying he would first get something to eat and then return. Wesner came to the office upon his arrival in the city and found the door was just as he left it. He is inclined to believe that the stranger spent the money for a certain kind of red paint which is not carried in stock at the drug stores.

WOMAN'S PAGE

WHAT WOMEN MAY DO FOR SEYMOUR

The following is the interesting paper on a very timely subject which was presented by Mrs. Harry M. Miller, North Walnut street, before the regular meeting of the Seymour Tuesday Club March 21.

When I learned of my subject for this afternoon, I thought that the first part of it—"What have women done for Seymour?" offered a good opportunity for an interesting paper. Perhaps had some of you ladies been given this subject, who were born in Seymour and have grown familiar from childhood with the stories and traditions of a generation past, you might have made something worth while of it. I talked with several of the older residents, but did not obtain any information that I was able to use that has not already been given in the club.

However, I did not need to have anyone to tell me that the women of the pioneer days of Seymour must have been women of sterling worth and strong character, standing always for the upbuilding of all members of the community. Their influence is felt today in every progressive movement and every advantage that we now enjoy. Women have always been and will always continue to be the power behind the throne for all spiritual progress which always means the betterment of a community. The high standards set and the superior mental activity of the former women of Seymour have made possible the existence of the Tuesday Club as well as all other organized bodies for the public welfare of our town. Is not their influence still pressing us forward and bidding us to open up new avenues, make new channels for the inflowing streams of good which are being continually renewed from the divine source of all good?

The latter part of my subject—"What may women do for Seymour?" has appealed to me as one of great importance, the greatest of any topic that has been brought before the club this year. Our program has been wonderful and the different subjects handled in an unusually clever manner. I am sure no member of the club has enjoyed them more than I have. The achievements of the many noted women about which we have heard, the women of ancient as well as modern times, the women of fiction and real life, the women considered by some historians as most immoral and those of the most impeccable character. The famous writers, the famous artists, the famous musicians, the famous actors among women. Also those who have won renown in journalism, medicine and the ministry, as well as the most typical society woman of our national life. But towering above them all it seems to me are those women, who have devoted their lives to the service of mankind as have Jane Addams, Frances Willard, Florence Nightingale, Clara Barton, Elizabeth Fry and Maude Ballington Booth and our own Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon. They have been inspired and upheld by the same courage that actuated Judith, Jael and Charlotte Corday, and have been the means of dealing many deadly blows at the hydra-headed monster of Evil. But however much we may have enjoyed the study of these great women, unless this study has been an inspiration to us to emulate their example and to follow in some degree in their footsteps, I believe that their real value has been lost.

"Lives of great men all remind us We can make our lives sublime, And, departing, leave behind us Footprints on the sands of time; Footprints, that perhaps another, Sailing o'er life's solemn main, A forlorn and shipwrecked brother, Seeing shall take heart again."

What may women do for Seymour? The field is limitless. Does our town need a clean-up day? Are our yards in good order? Are the alleys clean? Is the garbage well taken care of? Is the sewerage system what it should be? Are our grocery stores, bakeries, meat markets, dairies and slaughter houses up to the standard required by pure food laws? Are there any improvements desirable for our park? Are the schools in good condition? Do the saloons ever do the law in any way? Are our boys smoking cigarettes, and where do they procure them? Are there any town nuisances, such as soft coal smoke and peace destroying noises? What can we do about the extermination of flies and mosquitoes? Are there any city ordinances relative to the sanitary and moral condition of our town enforced? And so on and on. I am quite sure many of these questions can be answered favorably. I do not wish to imply that our city is not well looked after, even above the average town of its size. But what do we know about it? And what are we doing to help it along? We talk a good deal about what we will do when we get equal suffrage, but if we are not making the most of our rights and privileges now, do you think we will do any better by merely casting our vote along with the men? Do you not think it is our duty as the pioneer club of Seymour to try to inspire our citizens and our school children with a better civic spirit? Do you not think that a cleaner and more beautiful city would be an enormous influence for good with our boys and girls? Cleanliness is next to Godliness. Should we not strive for this in a broader way than we have heretofore? And would not this sooner or later bring about a greater purity of thought, heart and mind? It has been said that the club women of America are the greatest power for good in the world if they will only work together. If the club women of Seymour would unite in their efforts for civic betterment, would not they be a tremendous factor for good?

I called upon Mayor Ross to learn something of how our present ordinances are being enforced and also to find out what ordinances are on the books with which I was not familiar. He was extremely courteous and impressed me as being a man "right on the job." He seemed much pleased that the women of the Tuesday Club were looking into these things, and expressed a hope, too, that we might take a more active part in the civic welfare of our town and assured me that we should receive his heartiest cooperation. Mr. Burkart, the city clerk, was also most kind, going over the ordinance book for the past ten years and giving me a synopsis of the ordinances relating to the chief civic problems.

Now may we not change this question of "What women may do?" to "What shall the Tuesday Club do for Seymour?"

At the close of the paper the members engaged in a lengthy discussion as to what the women of the Tuesday Club might do to improve conditions in Seymour. City ordinances and state laws, particularly those relevant to the curfew, cigarette selling and smoking, and health and cleanliness of Seymour were considered. Satisfaction was expressed with the assistance and cooperation so graciously offered by our mayor, also approval of many things which have been done by our city council. At the conclusion the motion passed that the mayor and council be requested to set aside a week for cleaning of the streets and alleys.

How to Make Blankets and Laces As Good As New

In the March Woman's Home Companion are the following directions for cleaning fine blankets and laces:

"Blankets cleaned in the following way will be as soft as new: Put them in two warm solutions of white soap, using one pound of soap and two ounces of borax to each eight gallons of water. Follow with two warm rinsings and a warm solution of one-half ounce of oxalic acid and one-third pint of acetic acid to fifteen gallons of water. If the blankets are colored omit the oxalic acid otherwise they are cleaned just as white ones. Dry in the open air if possible. To make them look particularly well when they are dry lay them on a table and brush the nap in one direction on both sides.

"Fine laces should be cleaned in the following way: If of silk use the dry cleaning method. If of cotton baste them on a piece of white cotton cloth and handle them repeatedly in a boiling solution of white soap, using two ounces of soap to each gallon of water. Rinse well, and put them in water to which one tablespoonful of oxalic acid to each half gallon of water has been added. To give necessary body, pass them through a solution of gum arabic to one quart of water. When nearly dry, pull into shape, lay them on a well-padded board and press them on the wrong side with a cloth over the lace."

Women Who Lead the Way

Ida L. Gregory—The First Associate Judge in America. (By Mary Dille.)

Ida L. Gregory, of Denver, Colorado, enjoys the distinction of being the first woman in the United States who has ever been appointed associate judge and her position is no other than that of the famous juvenile court established by Judge Ben Lindsey.

But it is not alone her work in this connection that has made her stand out among the prominent women of Denver, for she has occupied this position but seven years. Prior to that time she established the night school for boys, which as a preventive measure holds quite as high a place as the juvenile court does in the field of reform.

Mrs. Gregory went into juvenile court service the first day that the law creating it went into effect. That was about thirteen years ago. Since then 35,000 children have come under her counsel. Mrs. Gregory works in conjunction with Judge Lindsey when he is in the city. But during his frequent absences she carries on the work alone. The court has not yet diminished in efficiency during his absence.

When possible Judge Lindsey and Mrs. Gregory handle all cases involving young girls together. The cases are heard privately with the parents present. The punishment is rather more frequently meted out to the parents than to the children.

Mrs. Gregory is an ardent club woman. She is president of the Poets and Authors' Club of Colorado and of the Colorado Art Club. It was through her association with the latter organization that her idea of establishing a night school originated. During an art exhibit of the students Mrs. Gregory saw a small tattered boy look longingly into the window and walk away. She quickly followed him and asked him to come in. She guided him through the gallery and persuaded him to confide his ambitions to her.

She found that he longed for knowledge of art and that he had instinctive ability but no means to gratify his desire to learn. She immediately came to the realization of a need of night schools for teaching things that could not be learned in the public schools and for the education of those who were past school age.

She organized her night school the same day of the incident of the boy at the art gallery. She invited him to come that evening bringing with him his brothers and other boys who wanted to learn. From this beginning one of the most influential of Denver's institutions has grown. Her original class was comprised of five students and she was the sole instructor. In five years the school grew to a membership of five hundred and Mrs. Gregory is assisted by instructors whose names are the most prominent in the educational directory of Denver.

Well Settled Styles in Hats

There are wide hats and high hats and variety enough in both sorts to insure several shapes that will be becoming to each face. But the variety is not confusing as it was a year ago. The styles are very well settled and the hats are beautiful.

Each of the hats in the group of three pictured displays some one or two of the accepted modes of millinery for spring. At the left of the group a straw sailor has a wide, flat brim. The crown is covered with faille ribbon put on in four sections. Over this ribbon covering "ladder" bows extend from the center of the base of the crown at the middle of the front and back and of the two sides. They terminate in loops and ends that lie flat on the brim.

velvet ribbon encircles the crown, finished with a bow at the left side. The striking feature in this hat is its bead embroidery. The peacock feather motif appears on the front and side brim and on the crown, embroidered in small beads set close together.

A bell-shaped black hat at the top of the picture is a perfect example of a popular type. It is of lustrous straw trimmed with loops of taffeta ribbon perched on top of the crown. Lacquered rose foliage covers part of the crown, and springs up among the loops of ribbon. This hat is all black except for the large pink rose at one side.

Lacquered or varnished flower and foliage trimmings are immensely popular. Everything has a shiny, brilliant surface, covered either with transparent or with black lacquer. Flowers treated with this lacquer look as if made of fine porcelain.

Like the elders, the children's styles smack of period dressing: Louis Seie, Directoire, 1860, 1830 and also Louis-Quinze. Of course all their skirts are as full and as wide as their mother's and but a modicum shorter.

Cunning little peasant frocks with pointed bodies of laced black velvet over short sleeved, frilly blouses of white bastiste and little full grown flowered skirts of challie or crepe are quaintly charming and also childish. Many indeed are the little models shown with separate waists and skirts, some with peplums and oth-

FRENCH CREAM CANDY.

Mix the whites of two eggs and half as much water, but do not beat. Stir in powdered or confectioner's sugar until stiff enough to handle. Use any preferred flavoring—vanilla, lemon or rose—or half and half of lemon and vanilla is nice. Break off pieces, roll in small balls, and press half an English walnut meat on each side.

This cream may be used for a great variety of candies, by mixing with chopped nuts or candied fruits, raisins, figs or dates, and by using strong black coffee instead of water for a maple taste and cream color, or chocolate may be used, or half chocolate and half coffee, flavored with vanilla, produces a vrey agreeable taste.—Farm and Home.

MACARONI WITH TOMATOES.

Cook half a pound of macaroni in rapid boiling salted water until tender. Drain and rinse in cold water. Butter a baking dish, put in a layer of macaroni, then a layer of canned tomatoes. Sprinkle with green peppers, sliced or chopped fine, and grated onion. Add also a little salt. Continue the layers until the macaroni is used, having the last layer tomatoes. Pour over the whole a cup of well seasoned broth and let bake about forty-five minutes. The onion may be omitted or grated cheese added at discretion.

A GOOD FRUIT CAKE.

One pound of butter, one pound sugar, twelve eggs, one pound currants, one pound raisins, one-half pound mixed peel, one pound flour, one fourth pound almonds, two teaspoons baking powder. Beat butter and sugar to a cream, add eggs one by one until lightly beaten; stir in flour and baking powder lightly, then the fruit and almonds. Line cake tin with buttered paper and put mixture in, bake in slow oven five or six hours until thoroughly cooked in center. This makes a fine Christmas cake.

LIVER DUMPLING SOUP.

Take a soup bone or a nice piece of boiling meat; add stock onions, celery, bay leaves, carrots, just as you would for any soup. When well seasoned chop or put through a food chopper a pound of beef or calf liver, add one-half pound cracker crumbs, one onion, salt and pepper; work this together and make dumplings. After straining soup add dumplings and boil one more hour. This will serve four people.

DATE DART.

One cup dates pitted, one cup quartered walnuts, one cup sugar, one tablespoon flour, one teaspoon vanilla, pinch of salt. Beat eggs, add sugar, salt, flour and baking powder and vanilla. Stir, add dates and nuts. Mix well. Bake in shallow pan thirty minutes in slow oven. Serve with whipped cream or vanilla sauce.

LEMON PIE.

Take one lemon grated rind and juice, one cup sugar, one cup milk, two tablespoons flour, two eggs, butter size of an egg, separate yolks from the whites, mix yolks with sugar and flour, add milk and melted butter. Beat the whites stiff and add last. Put in deep pie place and bake very slowly forty minutes.

CAKE ICING.

In making icing with powdered sugar it is much better to use a little hot water instead of milk for mixing. This warm weather the milk soon sours and spoils the frosting of cakes. By this method you can ice a cake in a little while, as you do not have to cook it at all, and there is no danger of it spoiling.

LETTUCE SANDWICHES.

Make a fine butter with milk until it is soft enough to spread. Cut and trim sandwich bread, spread with the peanut butter, lay lettuce leaf on one slice, spread with salad dressing and sprinkle with chopped olives or nuts. Lay on the other slice of bread. Can be cut in fancy shapes for special occasions.

DATE PUDDING.

One cup granulated sugar, two whole eggs, two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup English walnuts, one cup chopped dates; bake in slow oven forty minutes. Serve with with whipped cream. Better if baked day before.

ers with little suspended effects to match the skirt material. Dear indeed to the hearts of little girlhood re these miniature separate skirt and blouse affairs just like a real grown up lady.

One of the suspender models comes with a skirt of striped green and white linen, a veritable little shirt waist of white bastiste, its turn over collar and cuffs finished with a frilling picot edged in green. A wide, band like belt of plain green linen embroidered in a vine of white has two wide suspender straps going one over each shoulder, the square ends of which protrude below the belt line in little tabl effects, like a peplum. This model also comes in rose and white and blue and white. As for coats, they are all narrow across the shoulders and flare modishly toward the finish.

Silk peplum or gabardine are the smartest materials, always of course including faille. Some of them show touches of smocking, insets below the high waist line of blocks and pleats or tucks and some are frogged smartly in gold or silver braid. Yet others rely on a collar of real lace, a jeweled button or two or just the lustre of the material to add chic.

Hats run mostly to inverted bowl effects of leghorn and Milan braid or to quaint little bonnets. Picot edged ribbons are used lavishly as trimming, as are button roses and the gay cherries so beloved of the grown ups just now. Little feet shod in high, white kid-topped patent leathers and white silk stockings show dazlingly below the full short skirts just like Mother's. Indeed, these little feet follow in mother's footsteps often more sartorially than fittingly.

One-Piece Gown Is Most Popular of Spring Fashions

In place of the ordinary tailored coat and skirt, which has been so much worn up to the present time, the dressmakers are now producing very charming little model gowns in cloth or serge, suitable for wear either with or without a long wrap coat, and from the advanced styles seen in some of the shops, it is obvious that these complete gowns will be much worn during the early spring.

In almost every case the cut and design of these gowns are very simple, and they are composed either of fine navy serge or a soft quality face cloth in dark colors, such as Bordeaux red, highwayman green, smoke gray, etc. One particularly exquisite little frock made by a famous firm in Paris and copied by American importers was made entirely of navy serge, with embroidery on cuffs and collar in fine gold thread of Russian design.

Some charming examples of this useful fashion of simple one-piece frocks were seen in one of the smart shops recently. Bordeaux red velours cloth was used in one of the frocks, made with a short gathered skirt and a very plainly cut blouse. The collar, cuffs and belt were of blue and oxidized silvery embroidery and a row of silver buttons was used to fasten it down the front.

Another very smart model was in navy blue serge. Crossover effect on the bodice, which is among the newest fashions, was a feature of this frock. There was a very wide belt and a single rever of the serge handsomely embroidered in black soutache braid, while the collar and cuffs were of gray opossum fur. The skirt illustrated the new style, numerous gathers giving a somewhat fluted effect. Last, but by no means least, was a charming afternoon coat carried out in purple velours with collar and cuffs of seal plush, and on the skirt two narrow rows of the same material. This seal plush trimming is effective and most serviceable for hard wear and is being much used just now for wrap coats of a useful type.

It is noteworthy that practically all the new skirts are as short as they have been for some months past, and if possible are made with increased fulness and everything possible is done to hold them well around the bottom of the hem. To do this successfully much use is made of frilled and flounced petticoats, these petticoats often being a marvel of clever workmanship.

A piece of paper (the kind you get the meat wrapped in from the butcher) is a handy thing to roll pies and cookies out on. Use it the same as the baking board. When you get through roll it up and throw it away. It works splendidly and there is no board to clean when you get thro-

MARGARET MASON'S FASHION LETTER

(Written for the United Press.)

New York, March 23—They're little, but Oh my! For frocks and frills the tiny Jills mount up as enormous bills as the big gals. No longer are little sisters content with dresses made over out of big sister's or mother's cast-offs. Nowadays, with all the sophistication of a full grown follower of vogue, the wee ones insist on the latest spring lines and silhouettes in the replenishment of their ward-

THE PRINCE OF GRAUSTARK

By GEORGE BARR M'CUTCHEON
Author of "Graustark,"
"Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

Copyright, 1914, by Dodd, Mead and Company

"I can only assure you, sir, that Graustark is in a position to indemnify you against any possible chance of loss. You will be amply secured. I take it that you are not coming to our assistance through any desire to be philanthropic, but as a business proposition, pure and simple. At least that is how we regard the matter. Am I not right?"

"Perfectly," said Mr. Blithers. "I haven't got sixteen millions to throw away. Still I don't see that that has anything to do with my request that you be present at the conference to-night. To be perfectly frank with you, I don't like working in the dark. You have the power of veto, as you say. Well, if I am to lend Graustark a good many millions of hard earned dollars I certainly don't relish the idea that you may take it into your head to upset the whole transaction merely because you have not had the matter presented to you by me instead of by your cabinet, competent as its members may be. First hand information on any subject is my notion of simplicity."

"I shall marry to please myself and no one else," said Robin.

"The integrity of the cabinet is not to be questioned, Mr. Blithers. Its members have never failed Graustark in any."

"I beg your pardon, prince," said Mr. Blithers firmly, "but I certainly suspect that they failed her when they contracted this debt to Russia. You will forgive me for saying it, but it was the most asinine bit of shortsightedness I've ever heard of. My office boys could have seen farther than your honorable ministers. What you need in Graustark is a little more good American blood. If you are going to cope with the world you've got to tackle the job with brains and not with that idiotic thing called faith. There's no such thing these days as charity among men, good will and all that nonsense. Now, you've got a splendid start in the right direction, prince. You've got American blood in your veins, and that means a good deal. Take my advice and increase the proportion. In a couple of generations you'll have something to brag about. Beget sons that will think and act. Weed out the thin blood and give the crown of Grassick something that is thick and red. It will be the making of you."

"I suppose you are advising me to marry an American woman, Mr. Blithers," said Robin dryly.

Mr. Blithers directed a calculating squint into the treetops. "I am simply looking ahead for my own protection, prince," said he.

"You may rest assured, Mr. Blithers, that I shall marry to please myself and no one else," said Robin, regarding him with a coldness that for an instant affected the millionaire uncomfortably.

"Well," said Mr. Blithers after a moment of hard thinking, "it may interest you to know that I married for love."

"It does interest me," said Robin. "I am glad that you did."

"I was a comparatively poor man when I married. The girl I married was well off in her own right. She had brains as well. We worked together to lay the foundation for a well, for the fortune we now possess, a fortune, I may add, that is to go, every dollar of it, to my daughter. It represents nearly $500,000,000. The greatest king in the world today is poor in comparison to that vast estate. My daughter will one day be the richest woman in the world."

"Why are you taking the pains to enlighten me as to your daughter's future, Mr. Blithers?"

"Because I regard you as a sensible young man, prince."

"Thank you. And I suppose you regard your daughter as a sensible young woman?"

"Well, it seems to me she will be capable of taking care of her fortune a great deal more successfully than you imagine, Mr. Blithers. She will doubtless marry an excellent chap who has the capacity to increase her fortune rather than to let it stand at a figure that some day may be surpassed by the possession of an ambitious king."

There was fine irony in the prince's tone, but no trace of offensiveness. Nevertheless Mr. Blithers turned a shade more purple than before and not from the violence of exercise. He was having some difficulty in controlling his temper. What manner of fool was this fellow who could sneer at $500,000,000? He managed to choke back something that rose to his lips and very politely remarked:

"I am sure you will like her, prince. If I do say it myself, she is as handsome as they grow."

"So I have been told."

"You will see her tonight."

"Really, Mr. Blithers, I cannot!"

"I'll fix it with Mrs. King. Don't you worry."

"May I be pardoned for observing that Mrs. King, greatly as I love her, is not invested with the power to govern my actions?" said Robin haughtily.

"And may I be pardoned for suggesting that it is your duty to your people to completely understand this loan of mine before you agree to accept it?" said Mr. Blithers, compressing his lips.

"Forgive me, Mr. Blithers, but it is not altogether improbable that Graustark may secure the money elsewhere."

"It is not only improbable, but impossible," said Mr. Blithers flatly.

"Impossible?"

"Absolutely," said the millionaire, so significantly that Robin would have been a dolt not to grasp the situation. Nothing could have been clearer than the fact that Mr. Blithers believed it to be in his power to block any effort Graustark might make in other directions to secure the much needed money.

"Will you come to the point, Mr. Blithers?" said the young prince, stopping abruptly in the middle of the road and facing his companion.

"What are you trying to get at?"

Mr. Blithers was not long in getting to the point. In the first place, he was hot and tired, and his shoes were hurting; in the second place, he felt that he knew precisely how to handle these money seeking scions of nobility. He planted himself squarely in front of the prince and jammed his hands deep into his coat pockets.

"The day my daughter is married to the man of my choice I will hand over to that man exactly twenty million dollars," he said slowly, impressively.

"Yes; go on."

"The sole object I have in life is to see my girl happy and at the same time at the top of the heap. She is worthy of any man's love. She is as good as gold. She is—"

"The point is this, then: You would like to have me for a son-in-law."

"Yes," said Mr. Blithers.

Robin grinned. He was amused in spite of himself. "You take it for granted that I can be bought?"

"I have not made any such statement."

"And how much will you hand over to the man of her choice when she marries him?" inquired the young man.

"You will be her choice," said the other without the quiver of an eyelash.

"How can you be sure of that? Has she no mind of her own?"

"It isn't incomprehensible that she should fall in love with you, is it?"

"It might be possible, of course, provided she is not already in love with some one else."

Mr. Blithers started. "Have you heard any one say that? But that's nonsense. She's not in love with any one, take it from me. And just to show you how fair I am to her—and to you—I'll stake my head you fall in love with each other before you've been together a week."

"It is possible that I could fall in love with her inside of a week or even sooner. But I don't intend to, Mr. Blithers, any more than she intends to fall in love with me. You say that $20,000,000 will go to the man she marries if he is your choice. Well, I don't give a hang, sir, if you make it $50,000,000. I am not for sale, Mr. Blithers. Good morning." Robin turned into the wood and was sauntering away with his chin high in the air when Mr. Blithers called out to him from behind:

"I shall expect you tonight, just the same."

Robin halted, amazed by the man's assurance. He retraced his steps to the roadside.

"Will you pardon a slight feeling of curiosity on my part, Mr. Blithers, if I ask whether your daughter consents to the arrangement you propose. Does she approve of the scheme?"

Mr. Blithers was honest. "No, she doesn't," he said succinctly. "At least, not at present. I'll be honest with you. She stayed away from the ball last night simply because she did not want to meet you. That's the kind of a girl she is."

"By jove, I take off my hat to her!"

cried Robin. "She's a brick, after all. Take it from me, Mr. Blithers, you will not be able to hand over twenty millions without her consent. I believe that I should enjoy meeting her, now that I come to think of it. It would be a pleasure to exchange confidences with a girl of that sort. Shall I instruct your chauffeur to come for you up here, or will you walk back to?"

"I'll walk to Red Roof," said Mr. Blithers doggedly. "I'm going to ask Mrs. King to let you off for tonight."

STORM LOSS WILL EXCEED $2,000,000

Six Killed and Scores Are Injured by Cyclone.

Indianapolis, March 23.—Six deaths and scores of persons injured, with property damage conservatively estimated at $1,500,000, appeared from incomplete reports to be the result of the cyclone which swept over northern Indiana.

From the eastern edge of Illinois, where several towns were damaged, the storm tore a wide path almost due east from Newton county across Indiana and into Ohio. One death was reported in White county, one in Grant, two in Cass, one in Blackford and one in Wabash county. Hundreds of farm houses were blown down.

Wire communications in the storm district was almost paralyzed and it is believed that the property loss is much greater than that already reported. Hundreds of cattle were killed and with the destruction of buildings it is believed the total damage in Indiana will approach $2,000,000.

The wrecking of Clover Leaf passenger train No. 5, the "Commercial Traveler," which was blown from the track while dashing southward near Marion, was only one of the unusual features of the storm. No one was killed in the wreck. The four-year-old daughter of a farmer near Montpelier was picked up by the wind as she went to the door of her home and was tossed fifty feet into a field and killed.

Near Monon, White county, a baby was torn from its mother's arms as the house was wrecked. It could not be found until the wreckage caught fire and the glare revealed the body of the infant crushed to death, lying seventy-five feet away.

THREE MEN HURT IN RIOT

Five Hundred Armed Men March Upon Ohio Mine.

Steuensville, O., March 23.—Three men were injured and ten arrests were made as a result of rioting at the mine of the Modern Coal company, at Parrett, O. Five hundred armed men, it was alleged, marched upon the company's property and demanded that the men employed join the union.

County authorities were notified by telephone and a large force of deputies was dispatched to the scene of the rioting. The men who made the descent on the coal company's property were said to have come from Piney Fork and other points in that vicinity.

Decides to Remain Republic.

Pekin, March 23.—A state department mandate announces the abandonment of the monarchy and resumption of the republic. The mandate says the revolution shows that a demand for a monarchical form of government is not unanimous and that therefore Yuan Shi-kai reflects the emperorship and resumes the presidency.

Advertise in the Republican. It pays.

"Why Swear, Dear? Use 'Gets-It' for Corns!"

It's the New Plan. Simple. Sure as Fate. Applied in a Few Seconds.

"Why, John, I never knew you to use such language! I've told you several times it's no use to try those bandages, salves, tapes, plasters, and contraptions for corns. Here's some 'Gets-It'. It's just wonderful how easy, 'clear and clean' it makes any corn come right off. Takes but a few seconds to apply. It dries at once. Put your sock on right over it—there's nothing to stick or roll up, form a bundle of your toe, or press on the corn. It's painless, simple as rolling off a log. Now put away those knives, razors and scissors, use 'Gets-It' and you'll have a sweeter disposition and no more corns and calluses."

"You Wouldn't Lose Your Temper, John, If You Used 'Gets-It' for Those Corns!"

"Gets-It" is sold by druggists everywhere. 25c, a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Seymour and recommended as the world's best corn remedy, by C. E. Loertz and H. H. Carter.

FIRE SWEEPS EAST NASHVILLE, TENN.

Finest Residence Section In the City Wiped Out.

Nashville, Tenn., March 23.—East Nashville, the residence section of this city, located across the Cumberland river, lies practically in smoldering ruins, with here and there red flames still licking the charred embers of one of the finest residence cities in the state, while nearly half a thousand families are homeless and the property loss is incalculable.

The fire, which started in a small dwelling near the corner of Sixth and Main streets, driven by a high wind, swept southeastward through the city and in half an hour homes in two blocks were on fire.

Thirty-five blocks had been wiped out before the fire was under control. East Nashville is largely a residence section and many of the homes are of frame construction. Over brick and frame houses alike, however, the flames swept like an avalanche.

Among the buildings destroyed were the Tulip Street Methodist church, and the Edgefield Baptist church.

Every available automobile and wagon in Nashville was sent to move the helpless families to places of safety and a battalion of the state national guard was ordered out to protect property.

The wind, blowing in a southeasterly direction, did not die down, but rather increased in intensity until it became a veritable gale that swept before it the leaping, dancing, bright red curtain of flames that licked everything in its path.

BREAK WITH MEXICO FEARED

Carranza Government Expected Not to Comply With U. S. Demands.

Galveston, March 23.—Reliable information was received here that a break of diplomatic relations between this government and the de facto Mexican government is imminent, and that Elizardo Arrendondo, Mexican ambassador at Washington, has been notified by his government to hold himself in readiness to move on notice.

The information is to the effect that the constitutional government will not comply with demands which this government had made and is expected to make in connection with the movement of American troops through Chihuahua, that the American punitive expedition is expected to commit acts which will be regarded by Carranza as hostile and that a state of war may be declared between this government and the de facto government.

TELLS OF STORMY SCENE

Hinshaw Cursed When He Tried to Borrow Money, Cashier Testifies.

Noblesville, Ind., March 23.—How the defunct Farmers and Merchants' bank of Cicero obtained $6,000 from the People's State bank of Arcadia, was related by John S. Hinesley of Chalmers, formerly cashier of the Arcadia institution, at the trial of E. M. Hinshaw, who is charged with conspiring to defraud the depositors of the Cicero bank.

Hinesley testified that E. M. Hinshaw and his brother, J. L. Hinshaw, went to the Arcadia bank and said they needed $6,000. Hinesley said he told them he could not give it to them. They then suggested a meeting of the bank directors be called, but Hinesley told them, he said, a meeting could not be arranged at that time.

"E. H. Hinshaw was very mad at me," Hinesley said. "He used all kinds of abusive language and then began crying."

The money finally was obtained for the Cicero bank on a mortgage on the Farmers and Merchants' bank building.

LESS BIRTHS IN GERMANY

Statistics Show Further Decline In Infant Mortality.

Berlin, March 23.—Vital statistics for Berlin show a further decline in infant mortality. The total deaths of infants less than a year old was 274 in January which is ninety-six under the figures for the preceding month and 174 below those for January last year.

The number of births was more than 1,000 under that of a year ago, but the infant mortality decreased in percentage from 15.6 per cent to 17.2 per cent. These figures have a peculiar interest in reference to the food situation and the assertions of propagandists in America that German babies are dying because of the blockade.

Three Hurt In Ireland Riot.

Dublin, March 23.—Riots resulting from activities of Sinn Fein agents broke out at Tullamore, fifty miles southwest of Dublin. Three police inspectors were wounded by the rioters, but the disorder was finally quelled. Many members of the mob were arrested.

Killed by Big Four Train.

Barzil, Ind., March 23.—Marion Jones, age thirty-four, a clay worker at Carbon, was killed by a Big Four train, a mile west of Carbon. He was walking home from Diamond.

VEGETABLE CALOMEL

Vegetable calomel, extract of the root of the old-fashioned may-apple plant, does not salivate. As a liver stimulant, it's great. It's a perfect substitute for ordinary calomel (mercury); in fact, it's better, because its action is gentle instead of severe and irritating—and it leaves no mean, disagreeable after-effects. Physicians recognize this and prescribe may-apple root (podoophyllin, they call it) daily.

Combined with four other standard, all-vegetable remedies, may-apple root may now be had at most any druggist's in convenient sugar-coated tablet form by asking for Santanel Laxatives. If you forget the name, ask for the box that has the picture of the soldier on it.

These tablets are small, easy to take and are really wonderful little performers.

They quickly clean out the poisons that are causing you headache, constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, dizzy spells, bad breath and coated tongue.

They are mild. They never gripe. And they are a bowel tonic as well as a cleanser and liver regulator. A 10c box should last one several weeks. A Physician's trial package (4 doses) will be mailed you free if you write mentioning this advertisement. The Santanel Remedies Co., 802 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

COMMITTEE FROM HAYDEN SEEKS CANNING FACTORY

Confers with Management of Austin Plant About Locating a Branch in That Vicinity.

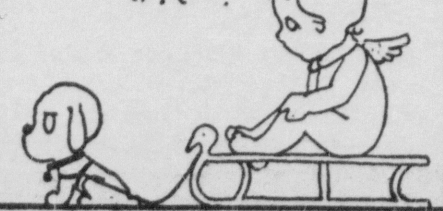

Farmers and others in the vicinity of Hayden are enthusiastic as well as determined to locate a canning factory in that section. There has been talk for some time of the organization of a local company and the farmers there have promised that a large acreage will be given over to the growing of tomatoes if a cannery is located there to insure them of a good market. Those back of the Hayden movement made an effort to interest the owners of the Rockford plant after that factory was destroyed by fire.

Desiring to get immediate action on their proposition a committee composed of Charles Carr, E. W. Dodd, J. L. Ewing and Fred Whitcomb came here today and went to Austin to confer with I. C. Morgan, of the Austin Canning Company, relative to that concern locating a plant there. The committee is anxious to have the work on the building start at once so it can be completed and all machinery installed by the time the season's crop is ready for picking.
